I believe that we are at a pivotal juncture in our State's history. It is going to take cooperation, collaboration, and concentration on results to meet the serious challenges that face our district, and our state. As Senator, I would look forward to working on innovative and creative solutions to:

Enable small businesses owners to upgrade and modernize their business through tax incentives and provide practical transportation, eliminate unnecessary noise, and improve our quality of life.

Reduce crime that is a result of drug use (including ice) by fighting for increased drug treatment, and rehabilitation programs, and thoroughly review our current sentencing programs.

Give parents and the community incentives to become more involved in their local school districts. Studies have shown that parental and community involvement is the greatest indicators of student achievement and success.

Ensure that working families and seniors are protected against tax increases or thinly disguised user fees, which actually end up increasing our already high cost of living.
